Interview Guidelines

Submitting documents to the U.S. Embassy

Bring all the documents listed in the pre-interview checklist to the Consular Section at 103 A. Mateevici Street on the day of your interview. DV applicants must submit all their documents before their interview. (See the instructions for DV applicants below.)

If the embassy asks you for more information or documents, use this link to create a profile before you send your documents. Make sure to note your UID number. After you have all the missing documents, upload them to the CEAC website (except for DV applicants) and bring the original documents to FAN Courier. If you need help, call (22) 89 30 60.

Rescheduling or cancelling your interview

If you cannot go to your appointment, send an email using Visa Navigator. If you are applying for a K visa, visit <http://www.ustraveldocs.com/md/en>. There may be a long wait for the next available appointment, so try to come on your scheduled date. DV applicants should know that there are only a limited number of visas. Visas must be given in the same month as your interview and no later than September 30 of the program year. If you reschedule, there is no guarantee a visa will be available on your new date. Check the Visa Bulletin carefully before you ask to reschedule your interview.

Security screening procedures

Everyone who visits the U.S. Embassy must follow security rules. If you refuse to be checked by security staff, you cannot enter the embassy.

To help everyone get in quickly, only bring what you need for your interview. Do not bring large bags, iPads, laptops, or other electronic devices.

Accompanying persons

Attorneys cannot go with clients into the waiting room or to their interview.

- Special Needs Visitors: If you are elderly, disabled, or a minor child, you may bring ONE person to help you.
- If an adult who is not a parent comes with a minor child, they must show a power of attorney from the parents or court papers that say they can go with the child and speak for them during the visa interview.

Immigrant visa fees

If you have not paid all required fees to the National Visa Center or on the appointment website, you must pay them on the day of your interview. You can pay in U.S. dollars or Moldovan Lei. We accept cash and credit cards only.

If you are not approved for a visa, the application fee will not be refunded. You can find a full list of fees here.

Do not make travel plans outside of Moldova

If your visa is approved, we will keep your passport at the embassy while we prepare your immigration packet (except for MIV applications) and print your visa. FAN Courier will contact you to deliver your passport(s).

A consular officer will decide on your visa only after looking at your application and talking with you. There is no guarantee you will get a visa. Do not sell your house, car, or other property, quit your job, or buy non-refundable plane tickets or make other travel plans until you have received your immigrant visa.

After Your Visa Interview

If more information is needed

Sometimes a consular officer cannot make a decision on your visa application because more documents are needed or your case needs more processing. If you need to provide more documents, the officer will give you a refusal letter that explains what you need to do. The letter will tell you how to send the documents to FAN Courier or how to upload them to CEAC (for MIV cases only).

Extra processing after your interview can take more time. Most cases are finished within 60 days, but it can take longer depending on your situation. Please wait at least 60 days after your interview before asking about your case status. To avoid delays, bring all the documents listed in the pre-interview checklist to your interview.

What happens after visa approval

Passport, Visa, and Sealed Immigrant Packet – We will place your immigrant visa on a page in your passport. Check your visa to make sure your information is correct and there are no spelling mistakes.

We will also give you a sealed envelope containing documents that you must give to U.S. immigration authorities when you arrive in the United States for the first time.

Do not open this envelope. Carry it with you and do not put it in your checked luggage. If you received X-rays during your medical exam, carry them with you and give them to the U.S. immigration officers.

IMPORTANT: If your case is processed under MIV, you will not get a travel packet. You can travel and enter the United States with just your passport and visa. All your documents will be available to the immigration officer electronically.

USCIS Immigrant Fee – If you get an immigrant visa, you must pay an Immigrant Fee to U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS) before you travel to the United States. This fee pays for processing your residency and printing your Permanent Resident Card. It is separate from the Immigrant Visa Fee you paid before your interview. You do not have to pay this fee if you are a child entering the United States under the Hague Process, a returning resident, or if you are traveling on a fiancé(e) (K) visa.

When You Should Travel – You must enter the United States before your visa expires. This date is usually six months after your medical exam. Check your visa to make sure you know when it expires. Your visa cannot be extended, and all fees are nonrefundable.

The principal applicant must enter the United States before or at the same time as other family members with visas. Children who get a visa before turning 21 must enter the United States before their 21st birthday, unless they qualify for benefits under the Child Status Protection Act. If they do not enter before turning 21, they may lose their immigrant status.

Getting a Green Card – Your Form I-551 Permanent Resident Card, also called a “green card,” will be mailed to the U.S. address you wrote on your visa application. This card is very important because it shows you are allowed to live in the United States. If you want to travel outside the U.S. before your green card arrives, check the USCIS and CBP websites to see what documents you need to return. You should also check with your airline to make sure you follow their rules. After you get your green card, do not stay outside the United States for more than one year. If you do, you could lose your status as a Lawful Permanent Resident.

Children’s Issues – In the United States, children must have certain vaccinations before they can start school. We recommend you bring your child’s complete vaccination records with you.

If your child is adopted, you have full custody because of a divorce, or you share custody with another parent, bring copies of all adoption or custody papers from the court in your home country. These papers should be translated into English. You will need them for things like enrolling in school, getting medical care, and applying for citizenship.

Information for New Immigrants – Visit the USCIS web page for helpful information on moving to the United States. You can read their publication “Welcome to the United States: A Guide for New Immigrants” online.

Review your DV Lottery entry

Before your visa interview, check the information you gave on your first E-DV application. You must have entered your marital status correctly. You must also have listed ALL your living children who are unmarried and under 21 years old. This includes your own children, your spouse's children, and any children you have legally adopted according to your country's laws.

If you did not list your spouse or children when you entered the Diversity Visa lottery, your visa and your family's visas will be denied. Any fees you paid to the U.S. government for your visa application will not be refunded. If you forgot to include a child who was already born or a spouse you were married to when you entered the lottery, you should not continue with your visa application. You can check the eligibility requirements online.
